To Whom it May Concern:

I highly recommend Lynn Munoz for a teaching position within your Science Department. As her BTSA support provider, I had the opportunity to observe Lynn in the classroom over fifteen times in two year period. Mrs. Munoz, was given the task of teaching Earth Science, a subject was not her primary area of training, to the non-college bound tract. I saw her develop into a very effective teacher, despite the fact that she was given a difficult assignment.

Lynn Munoz is a hard worker. She spent far more hours than the average teacher searching for model lessons that she could use to supplement the standard curriculum. She is gifted in the use of technology. As an older, more traditional teacher, I marveled at her ability to build power points from a variety of sources that she used in her lesson planning. Mrs. Munoz also showed me on many occasions that she truly cares about her students. She wants them to learn and she is sympathetic and flexible to in regards to the problems in their personal lives.

Mrs. Munoz is an effective disciplinarian. She has developed an active style that keeps the students engaged in the lesson and does not tolerate aberrant behavior. Lynn is also a lover of learning, both for herself and for her students. She showed enough confidence in herself to try new techniques of instruction and discipline.

Lynn Munoz deserves the highest consideration for this teaching position.

Sincerely yours,

Michael W. Rainville
